

Update: Harvest Sunday

The folks at Casa Hogar La Divina Providencia picked up the latest donations through our congregation on Friday.

In line with their requests, the outpouring ranged from socks to tuna to diapers.

The orphanage here cares for about 200 children and adults, many with special needs because they have a disability or were abandoned.

The gifts were under the guise of Harvest Sunday, an annual expression of our collective gratitude for God's bounty. It was October 25 this year.

Good for them; good for us.
